الجمعية اللبنانية لجراحة التجميل والترميم

Dear colleagues,

It is my pleasure and joy to invite you to participate in the 1st Annual Congress of the Lebanese Society of Plastic, Reconstructive, and Aesthetic Surgery (LSPRAS) and the World Congress of Plastic Surgeons of Lebanese Descent, the greatest scientific event of our specialty in the Middle East in 2010, in the ever resurrecting vibrant city of Beirut.

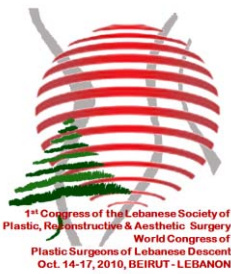

Several years ago we have organized the 1st Lebanese-Brazilian Plastic Surgery Meeting which has attracted many of our Brazilian colleagues as well as many other friends. Two ISAPS courses and one MBC course have also been organized successfully in Beirut over the last few years. With this present Congress being extended to all Plastic Surgeons of Lebanese descent and with ISAPS endorsement as well as the participation of Professor Illouz Association (PIA) and the Mediterranean Council for Burns and Fire Disasters (MBC), colleagues from North, Central, and South America as well as from Europe, Australia, North Africa and the Middle East are expected to participate.

There is no doubt that this will be a popular Congress. An International Advisory Committee composed of prominent international Plastic Surgeons is a sure guarantee to the scientific value and quality of this event. Besides free-papers, poster sessions and key note lectures special sessions like debates on hot issues will be organized. The Hotel venue along with other hotels within very short walking distance will conveniently accommodate all the needs of the Congress. For trainees, there will be a reduced rate of registration fee and of course, for all who wish to take advantage of the "early bird" registration. An attractive social program will include dining and dancing as well as organized trips and visits to the most interesting sites of Lebanon including a visit to the newly renovated and rebuilt Beirut Downtown, Jeita Grotto, the new world wonder, and a visit to the old Phoenician port of Byblos, city of the Alphabet, and the most ancient continuously inhabited city of the world. An optional pre-congress tour to Baalbeck, the biggest and best preserved Roman temple complex in the world is also in the agenda. Should you decide to extend your stay, the travel agent associated to this Congress will be pleased to arrange visits to other sites such as the Cedars, Sidon, and Beiteddine Palace.

We are looking forward to welcoming you in Lebanon for several days full of science, pleasure, history and culture. The Organizing Committee will spare no effort to make this event successful and unforgettable for all.

SIGHT SEEING TOURS

Baalbeck

OCTOBER 13, 2010. (optional)

Baalbeck, Lebanon's greatest Roman treasure, can be counted among the wonders of the ancient world. The largest and most noble Roman temples ever built, they are also among the best preserved. Towering high above the Beqaa plain, their monumental proportions proclaimed the power and wealth of Imperial Rome. The gods worshipped here, the Triad of Jupiter, Venus and Mercury, were grafted onto the indigenous deities of Hadad, Atargatis and a young male god of fertility. Local influences are also seen in the planning and layout of the temples, which vary from the classic Roman design. Over the centuries Baalbeck's monuments suffered from theft, war and earthquakes, as well as from numerous medieval additions. Fortunately, the modern visitor can see the site in something close to its original form thanks to work in the past hundred years by German, French and Lebanese archaeologists. Baalbeck is located on two main historic trade routes, one between the Mediterranean coast and the Syrian interior and the other between northern Syria and northern Palestine. Today the city, 85 kilometers from Beirut, is an important administrative and economic center in the northern Beqaa valley.

Byblos

OCTOBER 15, 2010

Byblos is one of the top contenders for the "oldest continuously inhabited city" award. According to Phoenician tradition it was founded by the God El, and even the Phoenicians considered it a city of great antiquity. Although its beginnings are lost in time, modern scholars say the site of Byblos goes back at least 7,000 years. Inhabited since Neolithic times, it has been closely linked to the legends and history of the Mediterranean region for thousands of years. Ironically, the words "Byblos" and "Phoenicia" would not have been recognized by the city's early inhabitants. For several thousand years it was called "Gubla" and later "Gebal," while the term "Canaan" was applied to the coast in general. It was the Greeks, some time after 1200 B.C., who gave us the name "Phoenicia," referring to the coastal area. And they called the city "Byblos" (papyrus" in Greek), because this commercial center was important in the papyrus trade. Today Byblos (Jbeil in Arabic) on the coast 37 kilometers north of Beirut, is a prosperous place with glass-fronted office buildings and crowded streets. But within the old town, medieval Arab and Crusader remains are continuous reminders of the past. Nearby are the extensive excavations that make Byblos one of the most important archaeological sites in the area.

JEITA GROTTTO

A wonder of nature in Lebanon

OCTOBER 16, 2010

What can be so spectacular in a cave? I can hardly find my words for describing such a beauty! It is simply overwhelming and breathtaking, a unique cave, I would say.

Jeita Grotto is the jewel of tourism in Lebanon. It is a nature wonder, and lies only 20 km north of Beirut offering to its visitors qualified modern services and accommodation in harmony with a fascinating nature. It creates a magical trip to tourists enabling them to spend a day of wonder-filled adventure by being carried away from a tangible world to a wonderland where are found 2 fabulous grottoes full of unimaginable beauty and mystic ! It is a source of attraction for tourists discovering the mysterious world in the heart of the earth.

The "Touristic Site of Jeita" gathers all elements of nature such as stone, water, trees, flowers, air, animals, etc... with a touch of culture and surrounded with a verdurous environment. It is one of the most impressive and interesting natural sites in the world.

OCTOBER 17, 2010, (optional)

Life has returned to Downtown Beirut. The former "Pearl of the Middle East" is once again an exquisite experience. A bewildering composition of cultures and faiths, perched on a breathtaking sweep of Mediterranean coastline. The most populous city in Lebanon, Beirut, our capital and home to the first law school in the world, dating back to the Phoenician Era, is a tourist attraction to all visitors from around the world. Known to be the commercial and busiest city in Lebanon, th city is the focal point of the region's cultural life, renowned for its press, theaters, cultural activities, and nightlife. After the destructive war, Beirut underwent major reconstruction, and the redesigned historic city center, marina, pubs and nightlife districts have once again rendered it a tourist attraction. Beirut was named the top place to visit in 2009 by the New York Times. It was also listed as one of the ten liveliest cities in the world by Lonely Planet in 2009.
